In the following sentences, there may be some errors in the parts which are marked as A, B, C, D. Identify the part which has errors.

1. Raji found it difficult (A)/ to manage single-handedly the three children (B)/ who were always quarrelling (C)/ between themselves. (D)

- a. A b. B c. C d. D

Answer: D

As there are three children, 'among' is the suitable word to use instead of between.

Question 3

Choose the most appropriate sentence which can replace the 'Underlined' sentence.

3. Moule's review served as a welcome encouragement to the author: Hardy set to work with renewed vigor and finished the serial ahead of time.

- a. served as a welcome encouragement to the author: Hardy
b. served a welcome encouragement to Hardy, and the author
c. was welcome as an encouragement to Hardy, the author

d. was a welcome encouragement to the author, Hardy

Answer: D

Explanation:

The sentence is fine as it is. All the other options are all incorrect because they contain the 'comma splice' error – you cannot join two complete sentences with only a comma, you need a conjunction or a colon or semicolon. The expression 'served a welcome' is unidiomatic; 'served as' is correct in this case.

For each sentence, choose the most appropriate option that best completes the given sentence.

4. Hawkins is ____ in his field; no other contemporary scientist commands the same respect.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The part after the semicolon tells us that Hawkins is highly respected. Hence, the only suitable word is preeminent. (All the others have negative connotations.)

(Disparaged = criticized; ignominious = shameful; obsolete = outdated; anachronistic = in the wrong time period; preeminent = foremost, famous)

Question 10

Directions for questions: Choose the most logical fit for each blank.

10. Kalyan found it hard to _____ himself from the problem he had created by producing fake documents.

- a. Extricate b. Abstain c. Alienate d. Estrange

Answer: A

Explanation:

Option "Extricate":

Rebuke – Criticise

One would never 'rebuke oneself from something'; one would always 'rebuke oneself for something'

Option "Abstain": One would never 'engulf oneself from something'; 'one would always engulf oneself in something'.

Options "Alienate" vs. "Estrange":

Oust – Expel

Extricate – Remove

When using 'oust', one would never use the expression 'ousting himself'.

E.g. sentence: Saddam Hussein was ousted from the post of Iraqi President.

Thus Option "Extricate" is the perfect fit.
